

contained therein with respect to lobbyists. A vote Aye is a vote to adopt the regulation. A vote No rejects.

All those in favor, signify by saying Aye. Contrary, No. The Ayes have it. The resolution is adopted. Thank you, Mr. Scanlan.

DELEGATE SCANLAN: Mr. President, is it not necessary to move that the regulation be contained as an appendix when the rules are finally prepared, or is that an administrative matter?

THE PRESIDENT: I believe that would be desirable. I would like for you also to include in your motion a direction that the Secretary cause the regulation to be published in such newspapers as he deems appropriate.

DELEGATE SCANLAN: I now move that the regulation just adopted by the Convention be printed or otherwise published with the rules of the Convention when those are ultimately distributed, and that the Secretary of the Convention take all reasonable measures to give the proposed regulation the required publicity so that those affected by it may know about it.

THE PRESIDENT: Is there a second?

DELEGATE BAMBERGER: Second.

THE PRESIDENT: Is there any discussion?

(There was no response.)

The question arises on the motion that the Secretary take all reasonable steps to cause the regulation just adopted to be published and to become known to those affected by it. All those in favor, signify by saying Aye; contrary, No. The Ayes have it. It is so ordered.
