

the ballot-boxes shall be inspected by the judges of election in the presence of any persons who may choose to attend, and placed in a conspicuous position, in full view of persons outside the polling-place, and shall not be moved nor unlocked until after the election is over and the votes are to be counted.

1886, ch. 502.

283. The said judges of election shall have power to examine under oath, to be administered by them, any person offering to vote at any such election, touching his qualifications and right to vote; but before such examination it shall be their duty to take from him the ballot which he shall tender, and in case of the rejection of the said ballot they shall not put said ballot in the ballot-box, but preserve it and all other rejected ballots, and return them with the names and residences of the persons offering them, endorsed on the back thereof, in a sealed package, to the president of the managing convention, to be kept by him in the same manner as legal ballots are hereinafter required to be kept.

Ibid.

284. Every voter shall deliver to the judge or judges of election of the ward in which he offers to vote a ballot on which shall be written or printed the name or names of the person or persons voted for, and the position for which the vote is given plainly designated; and the ballots so delivered to and received by the judges of election shall be deposited in the ballot-box until the poll is closed.

Ibid.

285. It shall be the duty of the said clerks of election to enter the name and residence of each person who casts a vote at said election, plainly in the poll-book, and also to perform such other duties as are prescribed by this sub-title of this article to be by them performed.

Ibid.

286. No person shall be permitted to be in the room selected as the polling-place of the ward during the time any such election is being held, except the judges, clerks and such police officers as may be designated to attend thereat by the police board, upon
