The advantages offered to adventurers, and the object to which the money is principally to be applied, the managers hope, will produce such a speedy sale of tickets as may enable them to commence the drawing at an early day.
The prizes will be paid in sixty days after the completion of the drawing; and such as may not be demanded within twelve months will be considered as generous donations to the church.

A Reward
Of an engraved plate for forging his checks, and the price of a newspaper,
WILLIAM INGERIM, an apprentice to the subscriber, ran away on Wednesday last. He for two years past served the American in one portion of the city. He is about 17 years of age; well set; his height about 5 feet; his complexion somewhat sallow with a ruddy mixture; his hair dark colored and short. His features may be termed comely; but much injured by a down look, which makes him rather incline to hide than shew his face. His clothes are better than he deserves; he has a light brown coat, of fine cloth. The valuable convenience for insuring a cheap admission into the Theatre, offered as a reward, may be viewed as the handy work of INGERIM, and if patented might be very productive. At least it exhibits a proof of his ingenuity, and offers a handsome complement to the morals of the runaway inventor.
All persons are cautioned against harbouring or carrying off said boy, at their peril.
