A Reward.
Of an engraver, made of gold, containing the checks, and the price of a watch.
WILLIAM INGERIM, an apprentice to the subscriber, ran away on Wednesday last. He for two years past served the American in one portion of the city. He is about 17 years of age; well set; his height about 5 feet; his complexion somewhat sallow with a ruddy mixture; his hair dark, colored and short. His features may be termed comely; but much injured by a down look, which makes him rather incline to hide than show his face. His clothes are better than he deserves; he has a light brown coat, of fine cloth. The valuable convenience for insuring a cheap admission into the Theatre, offered as a reward, may be viewed as the handy work of INGERIM, and if patented might be very productive. At least it exhibits a proof of his ingenuity, and offers a handsome complement to the morals of the runaway inventor.
All persons are cautioned against harbouring or carrying off said boy, at their peril.

William Langdon
INFORMS the citizens of Baltimore, that he still continues the important business of SCHOOL-TEACHING, a few rods south of Christ's church, and in a very healthy part of the city.
He presents his most sincere thanks to those who have obliged him with the tuition of their children, the year past, and further solicits the continuance of their kindness. He likewise presents himself to the public, and offers himself as a Teacher, in the following important and useful branches: Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography, History, Logic, Rhetoric, and the Latin and Greek Languages.
Having himself first experienced the beauties and difficulties of attending the sciences, at one of the first Universities, in the New-England states; he flatters himself that no one who shall place their children under his tuition, will be disappointed in his attention to the morals and manners of those young pupils committed to his care; and trusts that those who favor him with the important charge, will find every satisfaction from their improvement.
